

Webinar

Ethics in the Covid-19 Pandemic Analysis - Requirements - Outlook

Wednesday 13 January 2021, 13.00 - 14.00 pm

Concept

For almost a year now, the COVID-19 pandemic has dominated our social life, overshadowing even the Christmas and end-of-year celebrations. The pandemic experience clearly shows that human beings are not isolated individuals, but are called for social relationship and living together in a spirit of connectedness.

What ways have we found to practice solidarity - especially from a Christian perspective - in the crisis?

How can we use and - where necessary - strengthen EU measures to combat the consequences of the pandemic for society and each individual person? How can a broad-based vaccination strategy be established in an ethically responsible way? How should digital and technological changes be used?

We would like to discuss which measures are now politically and (socially) ethically necessary with our panelists and with you in an online event.

Programme

Date: Wednesday, 13.01.2021

Time: 13.00 - 14.00 pm

Panel discussion with

- Bishop Dr. Franz-Josef Overbeck, Essen, Vice-President of the Commission of the Bishops' Conferences of the EU (COMECE) and President of the Commission for Societal and Social Issues (VI) of the German Bishops' Conference
- Prof. Dr. Christiane Woopen, Cologne/Brussels, Professor of Medical Ethics and Chair of the European Group on Ethics in Science and Technologies
- Dr. Peter Liese, Member of the European Parliament

Moderation:

Dr. Stefan Leifert, Brussels, ZDF correspondent in Brussels

Online registration

<https://forms.gle/kWhn3exKYbKR8Tdb9>